The Golden Rule

When Jesus spoke with his disciples in The Sermon on the Mount, he shared with them the Golden Rule (English Standard Version, Matt. 7.12). Because of Jesus' instruction, all Christians should strive to live out this principle in their daily lives. Those who follow Christ must choose to treat others with kindness, love, and respect because their Savior has instructed them to behave this way. Not only that, but believers would want this same kind of treatment from others.
